Hello Mingli Li:

ByteDance and its affiliated entities ("ByteDance" or the "Company") have partnered with AbsenceOne to administer Disability and Leave Program(s) in the US.

AbsenceOne is here to help you with your time away from work. Our goal is to make this process as simple as possible for you.

We received, and are processing, your request for a leave of absence. Once we receive your completed documentation, you should expect a decision on your request within 5 business days.

- Your Claim Number: 4A2505Y7B72-0001
- Your Time Away Begins: June 10, 2025
- Your Time Away is Under Review For: Short-Term Disability (STD), Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) and state/local leave

What Do You Need to Do Now?

Use the Step-by-Step Guide included in this packet to help you through the next steps and understand your responsibilities throughout this process. Your completed documentation is due on June 25, 2025.

Eligibility for Leave of Absence

Since your first day of absence is in the future, we will review your eligibility again at the start of your leave.

- The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) provides job-protected time off to eligible employees. You meet the FMLA's basic eligibility requirements as reflected on the attached FMLA Rights and Responsibilities document.
- You are eligible for job protected leave under California Pregnancy Disability Leave. Typically, approved state leaves run concurrently with any approved FMLA leave.

Reasonable Accommodations

ByteDance is committed to providing reasonable accommodations, pursuant to applicable law (including, but not limited to, the Americans with Disabilities Act and the Pregnant Workers' Fairness Act) to help qualified employees continue working and/or perform their essential job functions, provided such accommodations do not create an undue hardship for business operations.

If the need for leave as accommodation is identified, AbsenceOne may open this leave on your behalf. AbsenceOne will work with you and ByteDance to address the leave time. If you need to request leave as an accommodation, please call us at (877) 364-0312 to request a new leave.

C05937603.114-1899

Reasonable accommodations are those that allow an employee to perform the essential functions of the job and do not create an undue hardship on business operations. Additional accommodation examples may include, but are not limited to, assistive devices, ergonomic equipment, schedule adjustment, modified duty, transitional alternate job assignments, or reassignment. If at any time you would like to request a workplace accommodation, that is not for leave as an accommodation, go to AMS - Reasonable Accommodations Procedure by clicking here or scanning the QR Code to the right. After opening a request, if you should have any questions regarding your accommodation, please reach out to ams-employee-accommodations@bytedance.com.

CALIFORNIA RESIDENTS - For your protection, California law requires the following to appear on this form. Any person who knowingly presents a false or fraudulent claim for the payment of a loss is guilty of a crime and may be subject to fines and confinement in state prison.

YOUR STEP-BY-STEP GUIDE

Address: PO Box 14030 Lexington, KY 40512

Step 1 | Maintain Contact

AbsenceOne and Your Manager: Keep your manager and AbsenceOne informed of your leave status. Contact AbsenceOne at (877) 364-0312 if you have any questions.

Changes to Dates: If at any point your requested date(s) change, please notify AbsenceOne as soon as possible.

Step 2| Complete Forms

Authorization for Release of Information: Sign and return the attached Authorization for Release and Use of Medical Information. This authorization allows AbsenceOne to request medical information on your behalf. Signing and returning this form helps expedite your claim decision but is not required to process your claim. A hard copy is needed even if you electronically signed the authorization while filing your claim, because some providers may not recognize electronic authorizations.

Medical Documentation: Ask your health care provider to send us objective medical information (such as office notes, test results) that shows you cannot do your job because of your health condition. This should be sent as soon as possible. The enclosed Disability and Leave Health Care Provider Form should be completed by your health care provider and returned no later than June 25, 2025. You are responsible for any fees your health care provider may charge for medical documentation. Once we receive the completed form, we will inform you within five (5) business days of your leave status and count towards your leave entitlement. Delay in submitting this form and/or other supporting medical documentation may cause you to miss pay and impact our ability to approve your leave.

Reimbursement Agreement: Sign and return the enclosed Reimbursement Agreement Form. In the event you receive an overpayment during your requested leave, this is your acknowledgement that any extra funds will need to be paid back.

Potential Overpayments: You might receive an overpayment for various reasons, including but not limited to: regular payroll wages for time you retroactively requested leave; using Paid Sick Safe Leave (PSSL)/Paid Personal Time Off (PPTO) for days you have already received your pay in full via short-term disability benefits (and/or state benefits) and pay through the Company's Supplemental Disability Pay policy; or a miscalculation of benefit pay owed to you.

If you fail to provide necessary information timely, there may be an impact on your leave approval status and/or any applicable benefits during your leave of absence. For additional details please refer to the FAQ section of the AbsenceOne Portal.

How to Return Your Documents:
Upload: AbsenceOne.com/ByteDance | Email: ByteDanceMail@sedgwick.com | Fax: (855) 259-2246

Step 3| Helpful Reminders

About California Voluntary Plan (CVP): Because you work in California, you may be eligible for CVP benefits. We will evaluate your eligibility for payment under the plan.

Reduction in Payment Amount: Your ByteDance STD benefit payment(s) may be reduced by other sources of income such as statutory benefits, Workers' Compensation benefits, and earnings from other employment or self-employment. If you are receiving any other income, you must provide proof of the amount in the form of an award letter, pay stub or other documentation.

Additional Resources: Your packet includes information about additional programs and benefits available to you while on leave. Some of these, such as health insurance and PTO, may require your action. Resources are also available online by visiting Lark by:

- ☐ Clicking here or
- ☐ Scanning the below QR code with your smartphone.

ByteDance California Voluntary Disability Plan: A copy of the plan can be found at https://bytedance.us.larkoffice.com/docx/U1d1dF7iEod3LgxeP1Hu4FFPs6f?from=from_copylink. If you are unable to access this site, please contact our office at the (877) 364-0312 listed above and we will forward the Plan document to you. While you are a participant in the ByteDance California Voluntary Disability Plan, the State of California requires that we also provide information about the California State Disability Insurance Plan (SDI). This can be found on the State of California website at www.edd.ca.gov.

Benefit Redirection: Voluntary Plan (VP) claimants may choose to have a portion of their VP benefits redirected to pay or reimburse all or a part of the cost of their employee-paid benefits. The redirection of VP benefits may be made at the time the individual applies for VP benefits or at any time the individual is receiving benefits.

Claimants are not required to have benefits redirected. The request must be in writing and must specify the weekly amount of the VP benefits to be directed to the employee-paid benefit(s). The authorization form must allow the claimant to:

- Authorize in writing the weekly amount of the VP benefits to be redirected for the payment of the employee paid benefit.

- Terminate or change the terms of the voluntary redirection of benefits at any time. If the claimant is legally declared incompetent, the spouse of the claimant, in the absence of any other legally authorized representative, has the right to continue or cancel the authorization.

Step 4| Plan Your Return from Leave

Notify AbsenceOne and your Manager: of your plans to return from leave.

If You Are Released with Restrictions, you may still be able to return from leave. Ask your health care provider to send a written release to return from leave or documentation supporting your return from leave to AbsenceOne as soon as possible before returning to work. AbsenceOne will review the restriction to see if we can assist you with returning to work.

On Your Return from Leave Date: Contact AbsenceOne by phone at (877) 364-0312 or AbsenceOne.com/ByteDance to confirm your return from leave on your first day back at work. If you fail to confirm your return from leave timely: there may be an impact of resuming your regular pay, as well your status of internal systems (such as Workday, Lark and/or ADP Timekeeping systems). For additional details please refer to the FAQ section of the AbsenceOne Portal.

If You Are Not Able to Return When Expected, immediately contact AbsenceOne and your manager to discuss the next steps.

Changes to Your Work Schedule: Notify AbsenceOne at AbsenceOne.com/ByteDance or by phone upon your return from leave to provide your schedule for the week of your return if it differs from the schedule reported when you filed your claim.

FMLA RIGHTS & RESPONSIBILITIES

Phone: (877) 364-0312 | Web: AbsenceOne.com/ByteDance | Fax: (855) 259-2246
Address: PO Box 14030 Lexington, KY 40512

Basic Eligibility Criteria for the FMLA

- You must have worked at your organization for at least 12 months (at the time your leave begins).
- You must have worked at least 1,250 hours at your organization during the 12-month period before your leave.

If you have requested a first day of absence in the future, eligibility will be determined as of that date. If the number of hours worked in the 12 months before your first day of leave is different than the number of hours verified as of the date of this letter, you may not be eligible for FMLA leave and an amended notice of eligibility and rights & responsibilities will be sent to you.

If your leave qualifies under the FMLA, you will have the following rights and responsibilities while on leave:

- You have the right under the FMLA for up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave in a 12-month period calculated as a "rolling" 12-month period measured backward from the date of any FMLA leave usage.
- Your health benefits must be maintained during any period of unpaid FMLA leave under the same terms and conditions as if you continued to work. You must be reinstated to the same job or an equivalent job with the same pay, benefits and terms and conditions of employment on your return from FMLA-protected leave. (If your leave extends beyond the end of your FMLA entitlement, you do not have return rights under FMLA).
- If you do not return to work following FMLA leave for a reason other than: 1) the continuation, recurrence, or onset of a serious health condition which would entitle you to extended FMLA leave; 2) the continuation, recurrence, or onset of a serious health condition of a covered Servicemember's serious injury or illness which would entitle you to extended FMLA leave; or 3) other circumstances beyond your control you may be required to reimburse your employer for their share of health insurance premiums paid on your behalf during your FMLA leave.

Health Benefit Deductions: While on leave of absence, your benefits will continue for 6 months. If receiving payments from ByteDance during your leave, premiums will be deducted from your pay. If you are not receiving payments from ByteDance during your leave, any premiums will be collected upon your return from leave.

Pay: You have the option to use your Paid Sick Safe Leave (PSSL) or/and Paid Personal Time Off (PPTO) as income replacement benefits during your FMLA and/or state/local leave of absence, by submitting an income replacement request to the company US-LOA team. Any paid leave taken for this reason will also count against your FMLA and/or state/local leave entitlement.

Periodic Updates: While on leave, you will be required to provide periodic updates to AbsenceOne of your status and intent to return from leave.

Your Rights and Responsibilities under the California Pregnancy Disability Leave

Based on your leave request, you may also be eligible for leave under the California Pregnancy Disability Leave (CPDL) due a temporary disability resulting from pregnancy, childbirth, or a related medical condition.

The eligibility requirements and the amount of entitlement under CPDL are different from the FMLA.

Under the California Pregnancy Disability Leave, you are entitled to up to 4 months (17 1/3 weeks) of leave for temporary disability resulting from pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical conditions. This includes time off needed for prenatal or postnatal care, doctor-ordered bed rest, gestational diabetes, pregnancy-induced hypertension, preeclampsia, childbirth, postpartum depression, loss or end of pregnancy, or recovery from childbirth or loss or end of pregnancy.

The paperwork you submit will be reviewed according to the requirements of both the FMLA and the CPDL. Unless defined in the regulations for the CPDL, leave that is covered under CPDL will run concurrently with any FMLA leave. In most cases you will not need to submit additional information beyond what is required under the FMLA. When medically necessary, leave may be taken on an intermittent or reduced work schedule. Due to your pregnancy, if it is medically advisable to accommodate your medical needs, such as allowing more frequent breaks or transfer to a less strenuous or hazardous position, your employer will review reasonable accommodations.

This is a summary of your rights and obligations under the Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA). Both the California Family Rights Act (CFRA) and CPDL guarantee reinstatement to the same or comparable position at the end of the leave, subject to defense under the law. For more information about CFRA or CPDL feel free to contact us or visit FEHA's website at www.dfeh.ca.gov to read additional information about these leaves.

You must meet the following requirements in order to qualify for CPDL:

- You were employed in California on the date your leave commenced.
- We receive a certification documenting your need for leave within 15 days.
- The certification submitted for your leave request shows that you are temporarily disabled due to pregnancy, childbirth, or a related medical condition.
- You have not exhausted you CPDL entitlement.

Substitution of Paid Leave:
You can use paid leave consistent with CPDL and your employer's policies.

The Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008 (GINA) and the California Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2011 (CalGINA) prohibit employers and other entities from requesting or requiring genetic information of an individual or family member of the individual, except as specifically allowed by applicable law. To comply with GINA and CalGINA, please DO NOT provide any genetic information when responding to this request for medical certification.

"Genetic information," as defined by GINA, includes an individual's family medical history, the results of an individual's or family member's genetic tests, the fact that an individual or an individual's family member sought or received genetic services, and genetic information of a fetus carried by an individual or an individual's family member of an embryo lawfully held by an individual or family member receiving assistive reproductive services. (75 Fed. Reg. 68934.)

"Genetic information," as defined by CalGINA includes information about the individual's or the individual's family member's genetic tests, information regarding the manifestation of a disease or disorder in a family member of the individual, and includes information from genetic services or participation in clinical research that includes genetic services by an individual or any family member of the individual. "Genetic Information" does not include information about an individual's sex or race.

Definitions of a Serious Health Condition (See 29 C.F.R. §§ 825.113-.115)

Inpatient Care

- An overnight stay in a hospital, hospice, or residential medical care facility.
- Inpatient care includes any period of incapacity or any subsequent treatment in connection with the overnight stay.

Continuing Treatment by a Health Care Provider (any one or more of the following)

- Incapacity Plus Treatment: A period of incapacity of more than three consecutive, full calendar days, and any subsequent treatment or period of incapacity relating to the same condition, that also involves either:
  - Two or more in-person visits to a health care provider for treatment within 30 days of the first day of incapacity unless extenuating circumstances exist. The first visit must be within seven days of the first day of incapacity; or,
  - At least one in-person visit to a health care provider for treatment within seven days of the first day of incapacity, which results in a regimen of continuing treatment under the supervision of the health care provider. For example, the health provider might prescribe a course of prescription medication or therapy requiring special equipment.
- Pregnancy: Any period of incapacity due to pregnancy or for prenatal care.
- Chronic Conditions: Any period of incapacity due to or treatment for a chronic serious health condition, such as diabetes, asthma, migraine headaches. A chronic serious health condition is one which requires visits to a health care provider (or nurse supervised by the provider) at least twice a year and recurs over an extended period of time. A chronic condition may cause episodic rather than a continuing period of incapacity.
- Permanent or Long-term Conditions: A period of incapacity which is permanent or long-term due to a condition for which treatment may not be effective, but which requires the continuing supervision of a health care provider, such as Alzheimer's disease or the terminal stages of cancer.
- Conditions Requiring Multiple Treatments: Restorative surgery after an accident or other injury; or, a condition that would likely result in a period of incapacity of more than three consecutive, full calendar days if the patient did not receive the treatment.

YOUR RIGHTS AND OBLIGATIONS AS A PREGNANT EMPLOYEE

Civil Rights Department
STATE OF CALIFORNIA

IF YOU ARE PREGNANT, HAVE A PREGNANCY-RELATED MEDICAL CONDITION, OR ARE RECOVERING FROM CHILDBIRTH, PLEASE READ THIS NOTICE.

YOUR EMPLOYER* HAS AN OBLIGATION TO

- Reasonably accommodate your medical needs related to pregnancy, childbirth, or related conditions (such as temporarily modifying your work duties, providing you with a stool or chair, or allowing more frequent breaks);
- Transfer you to a less strenuous or hazardous position (if one is available) or duties if medically needed because of your pregnancy;
- Provide you with pregnancy disability leave (PDL) of up to four months (the working days you normally would work in one-third of a year or 17 1/3 weeks) and return you to your same job when you are no longer disabled by your pregnancy or, in certain instances, to a comparable job. Taking PDL, however, does not protect you from non-leave related employment actions, such as a layoff;
- Provide a reasonable amount of break time and use of a room or other location in close proximity to the employee's work area to express breast milk in private as set forth in the Labor Code; and
- Never discriminate, harass, or retaliate on the basis of pregnancy.

FOR PREGNANCY DISABILITY LEAVE

- PDL is not for an automatic period of time, but for the period of time that you are disabled by pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical condition. Your health care provider determines how much time you will need.
- Once your employer has been informed that you need to take PDL, your employer must guarantee in writing that you can return to work in your same or a comparable position if you request a written guarantee. Your employer may require you to submit written medical certification from your health care provider substantiating the need for your leave.
- PDL may include, but is not limited to, additional or more frequent breaks, time for prenatal or postnatal medical appointments, and doctor-ordered bed rest, and covers conditions such as severe morning sickness, gestational diabetes, pregnancy-induced hyper-tension, preeclampsia, recovery from childbirth or loss or end of pregnancy, and/or post-partum depression.
- PDL does not need to be taken all at once but can be taken on an as-needed basis as required by your health care provider, including intermittent leave or a reduced work schedule.
- Your leave will be paid or unpaid depending on your employer's policy for other medical leaves. You may also be eligible for state disability insurance or Paid Family Leave (PFL), administered by the California Employment Development Department.
- At your discretion, you can use any vacation or other paid time off during your PDL.
- Your employer may require or you may choose to use any available sick leave during your PDL.
- Your employer is required to continue your group health coverage during your PDL at the same level and under the same conditions that coverage would have been provided if you had continued in employment continuously for the duration of your leave.
- Taking PDL may impact certain of your benefits and your seniority date; please contact your employer for details.

NOTICE OBLIGATIONS AS AN EMPLOYEE

- Give your employer reasonable notice. To receive reasonable accommodation, obtain a transfer, or take PDL, you must give your employer sufficient notice for your employer to make appropriate plans. Sufficient notice means 30 days advance notice if the need for the reasonable accommodation, transfer, or PDL is foreseeable, or as soon as practicable if the need is an emergency or unforeseeable.
- Provide a written medical certification from your health care provider. Except in a medical emergency where there is no time to obtain it, your employer may require you to supply a written medical certification from your health care provider of the medical need for your reasonable accommodation, transfer or PDL. If the need is an emergency or unforeseeable, you must provide this certification within the time frame your employer requests, unless it is not practicable for you to do so under the circumstances despite your diligent, good faith efforts. Your employer must provide at least 15 calendar days for you to submit the certification. See if your employer has a copy of a medical certification form to give to your health care provider to complete.
- Please note that if you fail to give your employer reasonable advance notice or, if your employer requires it, written medical certification of your medical need, your employer may be justified in delaying your reasonable accommodation, transfer, or PDL.

ADDITIONAL LEAVE UNDER THE CALIFORNIA FAMILY RIGHTS ACT (CFRA)

Under the California Family Rights Act (CFRA), if you have more than 12 months of service with an employer, and have worked at least 1,250 hours in the 12-month period before the date you want to begin your leave, you may have a right to a family care or medical leave (CFRA leave). This leave may be up to 12 workweeks in a 12-month period for the birth, adoption, or foster care placement of your child, or for your own serious health condition or that of your child, parent, spouse, domestic partner, grandparent, grandchild, sibling, or someone else related by blood or in family-like relationship with the employee ("designated person"). Employers may pay their employees while taking CFRA leave, but employers are not required to do so, unless the employee is taking accrued paid time-off while on CFRA leave. Employees taking CFRA leave may be eligible for benefits administered by Employment Development Department.

REASONABLE ACCOMMODATIONS

June 2, 2025

Dear Mingli Li:

ByteDance, Inc. is committed to providing reasonable accommodations, pursuant to applicable law (including, but not limited to, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Pregnant Workers' Fairness Act, and Section 503 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973) to help qualified employees perform their essential job functions, provided such accommodations do not create an undue hardship for business operations. If at any time you would like to discuss a workplace accommodation that may enable you to stay at work or return to work, contact your manager or HR representative, as applicable.

What Are My Benefits During Pregnancy?

Your disability period begins the first day you are unable to do your regular work. DI benefits are based on the period of time your licensed health professional certifies you are unable to do your regular work. You can file a DI claim for your pregnancy-related disability, and recovery from delivery.

Without medical complications, you can receive benefits up to four weeks before your expected delivery date and up to six weeks after your delivery. For cesarean section, you can receive benefits up to eight weeks after delivery.

After your DI pregnancy claim ends, you may be eligible to receive up to eight weeks of Paid Family Leave (PFL) to bond with your new baby. A PFL bonding claim form is automatically sent with the final DI benefit payment.

What If I Require Care During My Disability?

If you require care during your disability, your child, parent, parent-in-law, grandparent, grandchild, sibling, spouse, or registered domestic partner may be eligible to receive up to eight weeks of PFL benefits to take time off work to care for you. For more information visit California PFL (edd.ca.gov/PaidFamilyLeave).

What Is Disability?

Disability is an illness or injury, either physical or mental, which prevents you from doing your regular work. Disability includes elective surgery, pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical conditions.

What Is Disability Insurance?

Disability Insurance (DI) is a part of the State Disability Insurance (SDI) program. DI helps replace your income when you can't work as a result of a non-work-related disability. The program is funded through your SDI tax withholding. You are most likely eligible if you've paid into the SDI program (noted as "CASDI" on paystubs).

Elective Coverage is a plan where employers, the self-employed, and general partners may choose to be covered under SDI. Benefits and eligibility are determined differently between these plans. Find the annual cost of participating at your local Tax Office (edd.ca.gov/office_locator) or by visiting Disability Insurance Elective Coverage (edd.ca.gov/Payroll_Taxes/Disability_Insurance_Elective_Coverage.htm).

Citizenship and immigration status do not affect eligibility for SDI benefits.

How Do I Apply for Disability Insurance Benefits?

1. Use SDI Online (edd.ca.gov/SDI_Online) to file for benefits.

   OR

   You can request a paper claim form by:

   - Visiting Forms and Publications (forms.edd.ca.gov/forms).
   - Calling 1-800-480-3287.

California state government employees covered by SDI should call 1-866-352-7675.

2. After you complete Part A – Claimant's Statement, have your licensed health professional complete Part B - Physician/Practitioner's Certificate online or by using a paper claim form. If you are filing online, SDI Online will provide you a receipt number once Part A is submitted. Your licensed health professional will need your receipt number to complete Part B.

   A claim cannot begin more than seven days before you were examined by or under the care of a licensed health professional.

3. File online or submit your paper claim form within 49 days from the date your disability begins. If your claim is late, you may lose benefits. Visit Appeals (edd.ca.gov/Disability/Appeals.htm) for more information.

What Happens Next?

- A properly completed claim takes two weeks to be processed.
- We will mail you a Notice of Computation (DE 429D) confirming we received your claim and providing your estimated benefit amount.
- You will know we approved your claim once you receive an Electronic Benefit Payment (EBP) Notification (DE 2500E).
- If more information is needed or if the claim has been denied, we will contact you.

How Are My Benefits Sent to Me?

You have two payment options:

1. EDD Debit Card℠ through Bank of America. (You do not have to accept the EDD Debit Card.)
2. A Check. (Allow 7 to 10 days for delivery of checks in the mail.)

- Most completed claims are processed within 14 days.
- The first seven days of your DI claim are a non-payable waiting period. If a claim is filed for the same or related condition within 60 days of the first claim, it will be added on as a continuation of the initial claim. There is no additional waiting period.
- Benefits are paid once all information is received and you are approved. Benefit periods are two weeks at a time. If you are eligible for additional benefits, you will be sent the needed forms to complete and return. Allow 10 days for processing. If your benefits end midweek, that week will be paid at the daily rate. This rate is one-seventh of your weekly benefit amount.

How Are My Benefits Calculated?

They are based on your paychecks during a specific 12-month period (called a base period) 5 to 18 months before the start of your claim. To qualify, you must have earned at least $300 in your base period.

California's DI provides approximately 60 to 70 percent of your weekly salary. Visit the Disability Insurance and Paid Family Leave Calculator (edd.ca.gov/PFL_Calculator) to get an estimate.

What Affects My Ongoing Benefits?

You cannot be paid more than your normal weekly salary while receiving benefits. DI benefits are not affected by vacation pay you may receive.

Is There a Maximum Amount to My Benefits?

The maximum amount is 52 times the weekly rate of your benefits, but not more than your total base period wages earned when you were employed.

Exception: For employers and self-employed individuals who elect SDI coverage, the maximum benefit amount is 39 times the weekly rate.

Keep in mind that benefits are payable only for a limited period to a resident in an alcoholic recovery home or drug-free residential facility that is both licensed and certified by the state in which the facility is located. However, disabilities related to acute or chronic alcoholism or drug abuse, being medically treated, do not have this limitation.

What Are My Rights If My Benefits Are Denied?

- You can know the reason and basis for any decision that affects your benefits.
- You can appeal any decision about your eligibility for benefits. Appeals must be sent to the DI office in writing.
- You can request an appeal hearing before an Administrative Law Judge (ALJ). You may further appeal the ALJ's decision to the California Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board and the courts.
- Your privacy – all claim information will be kept confidential except for the purposes allowed by law.
